the team behind the features

Young Star Series

Noah O'Brien

From my experience in wakeboarding, I wanted to create a feature with as many possibilities as possible—different lines, different approaches and different ways to ride it. The goal was to build something that sparks creativity and keeps riders experimenting. It's not designed as a beginner-only feature, but there are options for everyone, from newer riders to pros. The name Fuse 12 comes from the twelve firecrackers and the fast, explosive feeling you get when riding it—almost like a rocket. There are also plenty of ways to get creative with the setup, which makes the feature even more versatile.
